Soviet and U.S. Clash Over U.N. Applicants

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. — Russia and the United States clashed at Wednesday's meeting of the United Nations security council when Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko blocked a placatory American proposal to admit 168 eight applicants for U.N. membership and the American delegate countered with a move that delayed consideration of applications from Albania and Outer Mongolia, the two countries sponsored by the Soviet.

A short, bitter exchange over Ukrainian charges against Greece and Britain stung the meeting on an acrimonious note with Russia opposing a suggestion the protest be submitted with supporting proof.

Second and only other item on the agenda was a protest submitted late last week by Dimitri Manuilsky, Ukrainian foreign minister, that Greek activities on the Albanian border, and mistreatment of minorities, aided by Britain, constituted a threat to peace.

When the applications were taken up in order U.S. delegate Johnson promptly asked for delay in considering Albania and Mongolia and said he would veto them if they were proceeded with at once.

Mr. Gromyko rejected a suggestion that the contested applications (all but Sweden, Afghanistan and Iceland) be set aside until next month.

A request from Vassilis Dendramis, Greek ambassador, and Pavel Lukin, Yugoslav mission head here, for the right to sit at the table during consideration of the Albanian application, was roundly rejected by all opponents.

PARIS (UPI)—Roumania, Dimitri Manuilsky, Ukrainian foreign minister, and three other members of the Ukrainian delegation to the Paris peace conference left Wednesday night by air for New York. Their trip was said to be connected with the Ukraine's complaint against Greece before the United Nations security council.

Big Four Unite in Defeating Australia's Plan for Italy

PARIS (AP)—An Australian proposal to establish a sub-committee to collect factual data on the Italian-Premier's plan to build a peace conference commission Thursday after another heated Australian-Russian debate.

The four principal powers and other countries voted against the Australian plan, while five powers supported the Australians. New Zealand abstained.

John A. Beasley, the Australian delegate, took up the award of the Mont Cenis plateau to the Italian Premier in his defense before the Italian commission that a special committee should make a study on disputed territorial questions connected with Italian treaty.

Hasn't Seen Documents. Referring to papers collected on the question by a committee of experts on the eve of the ministers of Britain, Russia, the United States and France, Mr. Beasley explained: "We have never seen these documents."

"I'll tell you more," he stormed. "This committee can never want to place, how can they give us any information?"

Replies to the charge of the Soviet deputy foreign minister Andrew Gromyko that no proposal for a sub-committee came from persons "who hadn't studied" the situation, Mr. Beasley said:

"I think we have studied it that we want more information."

Four Hold Meeting. The four powers, which included only Belgium, Brazil, Greece, the Netherlands and South Africa with the Australians, came together in their hotel room before Britain, Russia, the United States and France met in a Big Four session in an attempt to review the half-convened meeting in the latter half of its fifth week.

Earlier, Polish delegate Wladyslaw Wieniawski and members of the Italian political and territorial commission that they had taken a full month to discuss only six items. They then agreed to all of which must be considered by three commissions and the 21 countries before it can go to the big tour for final drafting.

The body was badly decomposed. R.C.M.P. men in charge of investigation said it was believed to have been murdered and the body buried in the shallow sawdust grave.

Member of the Alberta supreme court for the past 15 years, Mr. Justice Alfred Freeman Ewing, 75, above, died Wednesday at his home. A jurist of the highest repute, Mr. Justice Ewing was noted for the thoroughness with which he accomplished his duties, and for his ability to early start work.

Gen. Worthington and the people of St. John's were along fine. Fort St. John liked his manner. He told them and the Canadian people in general to make up my mind, either never, or they wanted a peacetime army.

He was addressing a joint Board of Trade and Canadian Legion luncheon. "It is in your opinion not to have a peacetime force," advised the general, "then be honest. Come and go, and let's do away with the whole works."

The most strategically important military command in Canada a warning that "experience has been a poor teacher when it comes to peacetime forces." He hoped that history would record the first half of the 20th century as the century of war, and that when he pointed out it occurred when men talked peace more than ever before.

Later the general told pressmen he felt an army of 25,000 properly trained, would be satisfactory.

Mr. Abbott made the statement in reply to a question of John Chiang, Progressive Conservative leader, after further supplementary estimates had been tabled.

The estimates provided for a loan to cover the cost of the war to carry out plans for expansion.

The C.B.C. bill now standing for second reading has been strongly criticized by both Conservative and Social Credit members.

The bill would provide for a loan of $100,000 to the C.B.C. which would provide also for the collection and other revenue of the consolidated revenue fund.

Bench, Lawyers, Friends Pay Tribute to Justice

Tributes from the bench, from barristers and from business men were voiced Thursday for Mr. Justice Ewing, who died Wednesday at his home.

Former Conservative leader in Alberta and since his appointment to the bench in 1937 one of the highest repute, Mr. Justice Ewing had many friends and acquaintances throughout the province.

Following are the tributes:

Hon. J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant-governor of Alberta: In the passing of Mr. Justice Ewing we have lost one of its outstanding citizens, and the supreme court of Alberta one of its ablest judges.

Many of us who knew the late Mr. Justice Ewing as a friend will feel a deep bereavement.

Mr. Justice Ewing gave a great deal of his talent and energy to the public service of this province. He will be numbered among those pioneers who gave of their best toward laying the foundations of our present society.

Albertans will pay grateful tribute to his memory, and to Mrs. Ewing, a very heartfelt sympathy.

Premier Manning: Mr. Justice Ewing closes a brilliant career of outstanding personal achievement and of unstinting service to the public welfare of Alberta.

Since 1909 he had been an active figure in the public life of Edmonton and with his election to the provincial legislature in 1913 his scope of service was extended to the broader provincial field in which, among all other things, his views were always held in high respect and esteem. With his appointment to the bench in 1937 Mr. Justice Ewing brought his wisdom of rich legal experience, a keen understanding of human values, and a love of justice to bear with distinction in the service of his fellow man. His passing will prove a great loss to the legal profession, not only to the community as a whole.

Chief Justice W. R. Bowron, trial supreme court of Alberta: Throughout the past 30 years, I have had the pleasure of knowing well the late Mr. Justice Ewing as a lawyer, a politician, a member of the legislature, a judge of the supreme court, a citizen of good character. In each of these phases of life, he ranked most highly and I do not know of any man whom I would more readily call a friend.

I shall say, however, that where anyone could excel, he did. He played grand parts in his concern for much of the general welfare of this community and of the province, and was an example to all of us that the right things will constitute his lasting monument.

Chief Judge Dubuc: Death removes from the bench a great judge who has been a friend to me and to others.

Arrow Downs Bear But Hunter Pays

FORT WILLIAMS, (CP)—Armed only with light-weight bows and arrows, a bear pulled, Walter J. Rawling of Greenville, Mich., killed a 485-pound bear with a single arrow.

Rawling had been rampaging around a tourist camp and Rawling was persuaded to try for a kill. He shot the arrow from about 10 feet and the bear fell in the bear close to the heart.

Rawling's triumph was short-lived. He was charged by the bear and was forced to run away without a non-resident's permit in closed season and fined $20 and costs.

I heard him say that the business of a judge is to find a good legal defense for the defendant, common sense, and this dictum is the key to the success of his own legal career.

He was a warm hearted, high-minded and noble gentleman who rose to the highest Court in this province, serving his country with the thought and action.

F. Armour Ford: secretary, Edmonton Bar association; It was reported that members of the bar here had paid their respects to Mr. Justice Ewing. In his passing the bench has lost one of its most distinguished members and the province one of its outstanding lawyers. His courtesy and kindness to all members of the legal profession will long be remembered.

J. R. McHugh, manager Hudson's Bay company land department: Recognized as gentleman in the real sense, a scholar and one of Canada's outstanding lawyers. This is the way I would describe Mr. Justice Ewing. To all of those who had the good fortune to know him, the memory of him will always be a real friend. This kind of life he led, both spiritually and in his dealings with his fellow man, was the kind of young man would do well to follow.

Col. F. C. Jamieson, barrister: Mr. Justice Ewing always acted with fairness and integrity. Whether in political campaigns, in legislative assembly, in practice as an advocate, and when dealing with other members of the bar, his attitude was one of difference in his attitude. He knew intellect and devotion to duty made him a most valuable member of the bar and in activity in which he was engaged.

L. V. Cairns, bencher of the Law Society of Alberta: The word of Mr. Justice Ewing will still toll with a feeling of deep sorrow to every member of the bar in Alberta.

Mr. Justice Ewing was also a great citizen and a kindly, warm-hearted friend to all who knew him.

In his long career in the public service in the province speaks for himself and his loss is one which will be felt for many years to come.

William Kerr, manager, Bank of Toronto: I have known Mr. Justice Ewing for many years, and before I came to Alberta he was a man who has been a very efficient legal advisor and in every way a perfect gentleman. His death is a severe loss to the community.

Reporter Finds Montgomery Showman and 'Cromwellian'

By John Black

OTTAWA—There are two Montgomerys—Monty the brilliant showman and Montgomery the spiritual roundabout whom royalist Cromwell called "the Devil".

It was the Cromwellian that we saw Thursday when Lord Montgomery was interviewed.

Randy asked a question on atomic energy. "There is no evidence to show that the atomic bomb will do away with individual citizens rather than soldiers might bring the brunt of atomic bombs."

To explain why they turned over the secret to the magazine to John Hersey, a former war correspondent and novelist, for his article on Hiroshima, Randy asked, "What did he do?"

"The conviction few of us have yet comprehended the all but incredible destructive power of this bombing of Hiroshima."

To explain why they turned over the secret to the magazine to John Hersey, a former war correspondent and novelist, for his article on Hiroshima, Randy asked, "What did he do?"

Hersey declares early figures—78,150 dead and 37,428 wounded—but had to change his figures to at least 100,000 killed and almost 100,000 injured, out of a population of 245,000.

Two thousand out of 90,000 buildings were destroyed," the articles states. "Six thousand more damaged beyond repair. In the city, only five modern buildings could be used again without major repairs."

Reveal Jet Planes Hit "Dead" Bands

CLEVELAND, (AP)—A "dead band" in which jet engines fail to operate was disclosed Thursday by officials of the national research laboratory of the national advisory committee for aeronautics (NACA).

"Dead band" is a combination of circumstances rather than a particular area in the atmosphere, although altitude has much to do with it.

A. M. Rothrock, chief of research at the laboratory, disclosing the secret, said that the "dead band" was caused by the way the jet engine was built.

TRIPOLI, (Reuters)—Most of 7,000蒙特利昂 shipyard strikers resumed work Wednesday after a two-day sit-down strike to protest against the government's attempt to maintain order in the yards.

This is the way it went: One brother deserted from the army in 1945. The other was caught and has regained his civilian status by amnesty. The other brother was sent to jail in 1945 for medical reasons. But he wanted to stay in the army and when a deserter-hunting unit came for him, he said he was the man who deserted.

He was court-martialed and in April was sentenced to eight months imprisonment. While under sentence he was sent to hospital for treatment of an injured knee and was released in June.

And his lawyer went to military authorities and the husband admitted to them he had been a deserter.

But there are two footnotes to the story. One is that the husband went A.W.O.L. from hospital and can't be found. The other is that he wouldn't have been allowed to stay in the army under his assumed identity as a repentant deserter if he had been wanted.

CHICK PACIFIC WEATHER

FAIRFIELD, Calif., (AP)—The United States army Wednesday began a check on weather that forms in Siberia and moves eastward across the continent to the Pacific Ocean. The first of what eventually will be a daily weather patrol on a triangular route from Sibiu, Romania, and on to Anchorage, Alaska, was inaugurated when a B-29 took off from Sibiu airfield.

Urge All Immigrants Should Bear Arms

BRANTFORD, Ont., (CP)—The resolution of the Canadian merchant marine Mount Douglas, who are refusing to assume full responsibility of citizenship, including bearing arms, passed at the 20th national convention of the Native Sons of Canada here Wednesday.

The resolution also urged that immediate steps be taken to end those service personnel including those taking courses have obtained employment.

Serum Is Rushed To Help Save Boy

KAMLOOPS, B.C., (CP)—A victim of the dread tetanus, four-year-old Aylmer James is battling for life in hospital but kept alive by serum brought from the coast plane and automobile.

Tetanus, commonly called lockjaw, developed after he suffered an infection from a cut in his foot.

Braving through clouds which halted regular commercial flights, Flight Officer Dougall of the western air command arrived here Wednesday from the coast city with 400,000 units of antitoxin serum. The serum was rushed from New Westminster by police car.

Hospital authorities reported the boy's condition as critical.

Canada Ship Lost But Crew Rescued

RANGOON, Burma, (Reuters)—The crew of the Canadian merchantman Mount Douglas, who were stranded when their ship sank off the Andaman Islands last week, has been rescued from lifeboats after six R.A.F. planes helped locate them.

The British corvette Niger and other rescue vessels stood by in mine-swept waters while the aircraft guided the lifeboats to safety.

Forecast Changes In Attlee Cabinet

Elevator Is Burned In Okotoks Fire

By Frank Swanson
LONDON.—There is a growing belief in parliamentary circles that Prime Minister Attlee plans a cabinet shake-up before parliament reassembles in October.

The big question mark in any proposed changes is Foreign Secretary. He is not certain he will stay in London when the Party conference began, being told by his doctor that he had come up from the terrific pressure under which he was working they could hardly be responsible for the consequences.

A sick man, too, is War Secretary Lawton. It is generally considered that Lawton has done a statesmanlike job as a representative of the land forces, but there are many who believe he may be too ill to continue to retire perhaps into the lords.

A. V. Alexander who except for a few weeks last year, has held the post of Home Secretary since May, 1940, in both coalition and Labor governments, is conceded to be "the man to go." He is most likely to figure in any change.

That he holds the confidence of the prime minister is evidenced by the fact that he was entrusted with the difficult business of delegating from Mr. Bevin at Paris.

Comments on the possibility of Mr. Alexander receiving a new cabinet post, political correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, Wednesday, said the past of at least equal importance and one in which economic affairs may occupy most of his attention."

This raises the possibility that Lord Lothian, chairman of the Board of Trade to replace Sir Stafford Cripps who would then be enabled to devote more time to dealing with Indian affairs.

It is agreed Food Minister Gwynne and Health Minister Bowes will remain their posts. Many believe there is a possibility of Viscount Stansgate, air secretary, becoming foreign secretary. The younger man while Arthur Greenwood, Lord Privy Seal might gain promotion from the present post.

There are many junior ministers due for promotion, such men as Mr. H. D. Macmillan, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, as well as a number of junior ministers likely to be replaced.

Find Man Slain In Toronto Hotel

TORONTO, (CP)—A man was found slain Wednesday in a bloated bedroom on the site of an old Canadian vehicle depot, now known as the Alexander hotel, downtown Toronto. It was reported that William Blaney of Toronto and had been dead about 10 or 12 hours. He was 65.

Police said the bed across which the man was lying was soaked with blood. On the floor lay a broken bottle which may have been the death weapon. When they learned the man had complained of ill-health but that did not account for his condition. There was a cut on the back of his head which could have been caused by a blow from a bottle.

Sell Battered Jeeps in Bunches So Buyer Can Put One Together

BORDON, Hants, England, (CP)—Ten thousand former Canadian soldiers were put on auction Tuesday on the site of an old Canadian vehicle depot, now known as the Alexander hotel, downtown Toronto. It was reported that William Blaney of Toronto and had been dead about 10 or 12 hours. He was 65.

Police said the bed across which the man was lying was soaked with blood. On the floor lay a broken bottle which may have been the death weapon. When they learned the man had complained of ill-health but that did not account for his condition. There was a cut on the back of his head which could have been caused by a blow from a bottle.

The proceeds will go to the British government's transport ministry through the sale is conducted by the Canadian government.

A condition of war assets sales to private dealers in the United States is that the vehicles must not be sold in Britain.

The 614 jeeps among the 10,000 vehicles go on sale Sept. 3-4.

They are mainly surplus vehicles, though some are put in the same lot so the buyer gets enough parts to put together a jeep.

Price of 115 guineas is cheap for four-wheel drive, tank-like vehicles, said the little dealer who opened the sale, though some buyers considered prices high compared with recent auctions elsewhere.

Monty Says Unity Being Forgotten

MONTREAL, (CP)—The Commonwealth unity that combined with Britain to win the war being forgotten by some and the British soldier was bearing more than his share of the burden in keeping law and order in troubled countries, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said here in accepting honorary degree from McGill University.

He spoke of the unpreparedness and weakness of the Commonwealth which gave small men the courage to hope for world conquest. Then the Commonwealth had rallied to the attack and the added strength could arrive and Allied might could combine to bring victory, he said.

A Deserved Doctorate

Mrs. Richard Procter, OBE, of Edmonton, it is announced, will receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Alberta at a convocation to be held in October.

It is a graceful gesture on the part of the university that will be lauded by the people of this community.

There is no need to expatiate here on the services rendered by Mrs. Procter in the war. Almost everyone who participated in voluntary war work in this community is aware of the intelligent and devoted leadership she gave to many worthy causes and in particular to the invaluable functioning of the Red Cross in Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The wisdom and inspiration she afforded in these important tasks make the decision to award her the degree especially happy or because wisdom and understanding and the quality of inspiration are the two faculties which are essential, or should be essential, to a doctorate.

The University of Alberta has displayed exceedingly good judgment in the honorary degrees it has conferred upon local citizens for local services loyalty and outstandingly rendered. And that, of course, should be the standard for any university. Too many institutions of learning fawningly cast their honors at the feet of world dignitaries for the sake of the publicity that attaches to such a circumstance. An honorary degree is meaningless and even wasted when it is handed out to those who are almost professional collectors of them and who wear each new one like an added link in a charm bracelet.

This is a deserved doctorate, well and honorably won.

Mounted Police Work

For over 70 years the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has given notably fine service to this country—so much so that its achievements are renowned throughout the world.

In recent years it has taken on many additional duties because of the growth of organized crime. At the present time it acts for the governments of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as functioning as the federal police force.

The responsibilities laid on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police by the war were extremely heavy and most delicate. It discharged them with intelligence and tact.

But now that the war is over, the position of the force is being reassessed. And just the other day the minister of justice announced that the force, which now numbers 2,464 in all ranks, is to be increased by 600 men.

One of the new jobs for the RCMP is in a coastal patrol for the Great Lakes similar to that on the sea coasts. There is also to be an air arm of the RCMP. Already five aircraft have been acquired.

This expansion of the force that has proved itself to be among the most competent of any on earth gives additional assurance of efficient law enforcement for Canada.

Well Tried System

Mr. Arthur Smith, Progressive Conservative member from West Calgary, thinks the Canadian system of court martial is all wrong, and told the house of commons about his own wife's wrongdoing.

"Persons subject to military (naval or air force) law" would be tried by a civilian having the status of a judge.

Why pick on the Canadian system? It is uniform with other Empire systems since they are all copied from the British pattern which in turn derived, in the time of Charles I, from the Dutch military code. It has therefore at least the merit of antiquity.

But that is not all. For since practice and procedure are copied from the British pattern there is little room for originality to which reference is made below), if the system of trial by court martial is attacked the whole British system of the administration of justice must be attacked with it.

Perhaps, being a lawyer, he feels, as many professional people do, that their own profession is an occult art which no one else has any right to practice. But the administration of military law is part of the training of every officer and even after that, he is not allowed to sit on a court martial until he has "been in" on several courts martial for instruction and has attained a designated rank.

Granted that in war time, when four years training must somehow be crowded into a few months, the young officer's training in law is sketchy and his judicial qualities unless innate in himself, nebulous. Towards the end of the recent war this was overcome by appointment of standing courts martial under the presidency of a specialist officer, usually a senior captain.

Even worse it is then, the court always has the guidance of a judge advocate whose whole military duty is law. And besides this safeguard there is yet another in the one detail in which court martial practice differs from civilian — that sentence is not valid until it has been confirmed by the convening authority. And it is not confirmed until the proceedings have been reviewed by the Services highest legal authority—the judge advocate general.

Furthermore, the court martial has the benefit of knowledge of military law and does not have to lose hours or days of time previous to the accused in hearing evidence on technicalities with which the civilian "having the status of a judge" could not be expected to be familiar.

Britain's Production

That Great Britain is on a sure road to post-war economic recovery is shown in her recent production figures.

The tonnage of merchant shipping, for instance, under construction throughout the world at the end of June, 1946, totalled 3,277,225 tons gross of which 1,764,943 tons gross, or about 55 percent, is being constructed in British shipyards—the greatest since June 1922.

This represents an increase of $8,840 tons on work in hand in Britain compared with the quarter ended March, 1946, and is greater by 377,650 tons than the corresponding figure for June 1945. The tonnage of work commenced during the April-June quarter was 329,084 and the tonnage launched was 374,405 tons gross.

Of the total tonnage in hand in British yards, about 247,500 gross tons, or 14 percent, is accounted for by overseas orders or ships for sale.

Britain is building now nearly five times as much shipping as any other individual country. If Britain and the British Dominions are taken together, the contribution of the British Empire to world shipping is nearly 59 percent.

All this is highly significant from the standpoint of world trade and the place of the British Commonwealth in that trade picture. It is even more significant from the standpoint of production which is the only source of economic recovery for any nation.

Drinkers, Good and Bad

A western columnist who enjoys a fairly wide following recently wrote, "Canadians and Americans are not as the saying goes, a dry bunch." Most of us, however, drink, drink to excess. The idea is not to get mildly stimulated (for as the case may be, mildly relaxed) but to get drunk and noisy and quarrelsome."

It makes one wonder where this colleague had his experience and in what environment and in what company he does his own drinking, if any. Or if he is only speaking from hearsay. Perhaps it is significant that he adds to the above: "You can see this in any beer parlor from five o'clock on."

But is this the fault of the drinker, or of the beer, or of the system? Is it true there are good drinkers and bad drinkers, not confined to any one nationality, race or all good and bad drinking places? But it is unfair to embrace all Canadians as bad drinkers and all Englishmen (say) as good drinkers, as it is to reprehend all our "beverage rooms" as bad drinking places and all English pubs as good drinking places. Lately much has been said in praise of the English pub by returning travellers who seem to have been spared the experience of an East end gin palace around closing time.

Perhaps we have another form of the age old conundrum of whether the hen or the egg came first. Is it the type of drinking place that makes its patrons good drinkers or bad drinkers or is it the reverse?

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR WIFE

Marshal Tito's Speech

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Marshal Tito's speech in Belgrade was not a peace speech, though in it he spoke of peace. It came after a whole series of attacks, another of which occurred subsequently to the first American note. The United States government sent an ultimatum demanding release of such fliers as might still be alive.

The appeal to civil war and resistance was not even made. The British and American Governments do not, he said, represent the people. The struggle is not "between West and East" but between the new situation. And it is an anti-democracy and peace versus reaction.

Never has anything been plotted so guilefully or successfully, winning so many fronts, playing at one and the same time, the game of humanity and the destruction of humanity, this USSR game to win the war that Hitler lost, first against Germany and Japan, and then against America.

Through war and aggression, the USSR has won the world over again.

Tito has many times received protests, expressed regrets, given assurances of peace, written and re-written and then repeated his old ways. Tito deliberately invited that ultimatum.

The attack of August 19 following the already protested attack of August 12, was a clear violation of the Geneva Convention, supported by his breathtakingly arrogant admission: "I have been my eye-witness of this event."

What a coincidence that the attack occurred at Blidz where he was staying.

Taking into account the whole content of the speech—so reminiscent of the speeches of Hitler which announced his intent to dominate in his own interests to his nation, and always branding the political victim as the aggressor—no one must believe that Tito has provoked a most transparent incident to force a showdown.

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT pages do not, in reality, deal with the actual conflict of the moment. The incident is incidental to providing Tito with a platform for defiance on the main aims which he declares will be realized even at the price of peace.

Leaving out of account the peculiar jargon of Communism which always depicts a translator, the peace that Tito means is the peace that the men on the other side of the frontier should be united with their own country.

It may be presumed that Tito, who spoke near the Balkan frontier, was thereby issuing an ultimatum to the peace conference on the Versailles-Geneva front. He has attempted to foment revolts on the Sudeten German model in the Klagenfurt area of Austria as well, claiming the inhabitants as Slovenes. He has announced his intention to throw all persons of Yugoslav blood out of Yugoslavia, following the lead given by the Czechs. He is engaged in mechanism to bring the people to the point where they will accept his leadership.

The choice is made by the executive, or cabinet, of the party in power. As they will have passed, and continue to do, to reflect their own political philosophy.

In the first place, no one political party has a corner on able men or able lawyers.

At any time a judge becomes vacant, there will always be number of men of equal ability and qualifications willing or anxious to take the position.

And it is a general rule that once a man becomes a judge, regardless of how partisan he may have been, he considers himself as a judge.

He should be familiar with and sympathetic to the philosophy of the law.

Leaving out of account the strength of the strength of our own weakness.

The real issue is a battle of ideas. The idea on which the culture of man is based is bound to be based on Christianity.

The central idea of the western culture is that individual man above everything else, that it was wrong, and contrary to the natural laws of life to misreat him for any reason whatever.

From earliest times this idea was opposed by its opposite, that man is not superior to animals, that man is not superior to God, that man is not superior to the Devil.

The strength of Communism lies in the unwillingness to conviction of the Communist mind. It has no doubt. It is not retarded by our ancient Christian ethic.

But the western culture is sick, and for all its outward display of power, with many of our people.

The strength of Communism lies in the unwillingness to conviction of the Communist mind. It has no doubt. It is not retarded by our ancient Christian ethic.

All the struggles of boundaries and armaments are merely incidental to the main crisis of ideas in our time. That crisis will be resolved not in terms of physical power but in terms of ideas.

Somehow this idea may win political, economic and military struggle but if it wins them by adopting the idea and method of its opposite, then the opposite will have won, no matter how we disguise our defeat.

When tea was first introduced to Europe, the English drank the brew and ate the leaves with butter. Others ate the leaves and threw the brew away.

Today in Europe

LONDON—Whatever controversial issues may be raised during the next session of the British parliament, there is one which will be universally approved. Known as the Roosevelt Memorial Act of 1946, its purpose is "to provide for the erection in Grosvenor Square in the City of Westminster of a statue of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the laying out of the square as a garden, and its opening for the use and enjoyment of the public in perpetuity."

To present Parliament with a special act may seem a clumsy method of setting up a memorial. The property in London are hedged about with restrictions, and the Duke of Westminster, who owns nearly a square mile of real estate in the centre of London, is no exception.

According to the Grosvenor Square Act of 1835, exclusive rights to use and enjoy the garden are conferred on the owners and occupiers of houses on the premises encompassing and abutting on the square. Since the garden is open to the public, these rights have to be "extinguished." Two other acts, the London Squares Protection Act of 1901, which protects such properties, and the Settled Land Act, which concerns the legal position of a landlord whose property is entailed, will also be amended.

FIFINAL PLANS for the layout of the garden are now being considered by the Pilgrim Society, under whose auspices the memorial will be erected, and by the Ministry of Works. The square is to be laid out as a lawn, with the statue at one end. The government will bear the cost of the garden and, as soon as possible, the Pilgrim Society will seek an application for funds to cover the cost of the statue. Sir William Reid Dick has been commissioned to execute a bronze figure of the late president.

After six years of war, the square is a man who in their opinion, will interpret their laws in the manner which will reflect the intention.

THE BEST WAY to secure this important interpretation is to select a man who understands and agrees with the political philosophies of the party in power. There is nothing more important or unusual in this than in picking the man who is able, sincere and honest such action can hardly be fairly criticized. He is, after all, capable of understanding the philosophy of the party in power whose policies put the party into power.

The second factor to be considered is the personal ideals and principles of the man selected. It is of the utmost importance that he have cause to be proud that practically all lawyers consider appointment to a judgeship as a particular honor and take a serious view of the position. A man becomes a judge, regardless of how partisan he may have been, he considers himself as a judge.

He should be familiar with and sympathetic to the philosophy of the law.

The record of our judges in this regard is particularly good and we have given them a high standard of integrity and impartiality that knows neither friend nor influence.

We are falling between two stools. We are unwilling to accept the new religion but we are also unwilling to live by the old. We are unwilling to do what Communism, dictatorship and militarism demand. But we are unwilling to do what our conscience tells us to do because we doubt that our conscience is clever enough to cope with times like these.

Red Deer Council Is Firm on Bylaw

TOYS, FLOWERS AND TENSE husbands with happy, nervous grins greeted British war brides and their children at the Red Cross centre at Union Station in Toronto recently. This group, looking slightly like cats who had swallowed canaries, were ready for that first big hug and kiss about an hour before the train arrived. The interval was spent wiping perspiring brows and madly clutching bouquets and teddy bears. But when the 285 brides and 243 youngsters arrived the place was transformed into a bedlam of hilarity.

LIGNITE READY FOR USE AS EMERGENCY FUEL: Moving backward six feet at a time, this giant machine is stripping away the top growth from the Onakawana lignite deposits in preparation for quick mining of the lignite if a coal shortage occurs this winter. The 110-ton "stripper" can cut through a forest of trees, six to seven inches in diameter.

I OUT OF 20,000: Defeating 20,000 rivals in a nationwide contest blonde, blue-eyed Joan Smith, 19, of Bellmore, Long Island, N.Y., won the title of "Miss Stardust of 1946." Victory brought her $300 in cash, week's vacation in New York and modeling contract.

10,000-MILE FLIGHT TO JAVA: Seven giant Catalina flying boats are being overhauled by DeHavilland employees at Toronto Island before starting on a 10,000-mile flight to Surabaya, Java, where they will be used by the Royal Dutch Air Force to carry food to islands of the Dutch East Indies. Above, one of the boats almost ready for launching.

More than $1,000,000 has been spent since 1928 in trying to develop deposits on an economical basis and one of the steps taken was to build this processing plant on the site. The processing calls for steam-drying the lignite to extract the 50 per cent water which it contains.

The Ontario Government ordered limited operations to resume at the huge fields along the Ontario Northland Railway so that if it comes to the worst with regard to fuel, residents of Cochrane and adjacent areas would at least have raw lignite available for heating their homes. This is a view of an open pit.

Alter School Idea In Saskatchewan

REGINA, (CP)—Development of citizens of the world as well as of Canadian culture will be the new school curriculum being tackled by 15,000 students of Saskatchewan's high schools.

Education Minister W. S. Lloyd traced causes of world troubles in the educational system and said high schools were the place to pursue studies of Canada's part to take an interest in world affairs.

The new course, pointing up social studies, is the result of four years of research and consultation of teachers and educational institutions. It went into effect Tuesday with the opening of the fall term in provincial schools.

The changes herald a new curriculum for other grades of Saskatchewan schools. Curriculum changes for grades 10, 11 and 12 are planned for 1947 and 1948.

Other changes include an addition of social studies which will attempt to "orientate the student to an industrialized and democratic world." Study of Canada's sections and problems as well as current events, will be emphasized.

Interest in agriculture and the world will be another innovation. One-quarter of the time spent on science will be devoted to agriculture.

Ottawa's Music Surprises Monty

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—A sentimental dirge played through the ranks of the Canadian Guards on Parliament Hill, Wednesday night, at the heart-songs of a great soldier and the men who followed him from the African desert to the Rhine.

The song was "Lily Marlene," that famous German war-time "lament" stolen from the enemy and translated into marching song of their own, and the great soldier was Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

With "Monty" made his way slowly through the ranks of the Germans, to chat with them, to note the decorations they wore, to pay personal respects to the dead, the true note of the ceremony was struck.

Certainly he appeared deeply moved as he picked his way among the soldiers, some of whom, among the veterans of other wars, some of whom, to use his own words, had fought their battles before he was born.

The band of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police played patriotic airs, in strain tune or two, and then they played a familiar popular song—“My Buddy” “a nice touch!”

And then the band was almost at an end, and the field marshal was about to step into his car to take the salute, the bells of the post office rang out with “Lily Marlene.”

Monty looked. There was surprise and glee. But also there was the misty light of memory.

Police said Semchuk met his wife on her way to work. She was stabbed five times before she collapsed. In a gas station, she was given a lift from a dominoes relations court ordering him to stay away from his wife, police said.

$16,500,000 Stock Liquor Destroyed

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A spectacular fire, fed by 1,500,000 gallons of alcohol and brandy, worth $16,500,000, Wednesday night destroyed an enormous warehouse storing liquor.

As the fire burned through the roof, it exploded the lots of barrels held, explosions spewed flames rapidly over the warehouse area.

Firemen fought the blaze for nearly six hours until it had practically burned itself out. Cause of the fire had not been determined.

ASKS RECONSIDER SUBSIDY

Daily T.C.A. Flights To Cross Atlantic

MONTREAL—Daily flights across the Atlantic between Montreal and London will begin Sept. 26. The Canadian Air Lines will add another flight to its present schedule, it was announced by F. M. MacLennan, president.

Trans-Atlantic flights were inaugurated by the Government in June 1943, to give service for wartime mail and mail to troops overseas. Later the service was enlarged to provide regular transatlantic flight for passengers, mail and express.

Scots Will Cast Ballots on Big 4 Talks

GLASGOW, (CP)—Keen interest has been aroused in the Bridgeton by-election Friday when five candidates will seek the parliamentary seat left vacant by the death of James Maxton, leader of the Independent Labor party.

Most observers think it will result in a victory for the then Conservative V. D. Warren and James Carmichael, close friend of Maxton who sought to retain the seat for Independent Labor.

The chief threat to Mr. Carmichael is said to be in the campaign by Mr. Blackmore, Labour.

Some working-class support may come from Mr. Bevin (foreign secretary), who has been markedly absent from public participation in some of the recent disputes and therefore acts with greater authority now.

Mr. Bevin's suggestion originally was put to Mr. Bevin by Prime Minister King, now en route home from Paris.

The Mail said many believed that unless the Big Four meeting succeeded in its purpose—which is to bring the world's major powers together again—there would be no hope for peace.

Other candidates are Guy Aldred, Independent Socialist known as "the prophet of world hopes;" and Miss Woods, Wood, Independent Scottish Nationalist.

Give Closed Shop In London Transit

LONDON, (CP)—A new development in labor relations for Britain was marked Wednesday with an announcement of the first formal agreement in "closed shop" in transit between the government appointed London Passenger Transport board and the Transport and General Workers union with 1,000,000 members.

The Transport and General Workers union, which includes bus, tram and tube employees, must be members of the transport union if they are to hold jobs.

London transit workers' decision raised the issue of the liberty of the individual as unions in Great Britain have wide powers over their members.

The News-Chronicle said when a public corporation decided a closed shop, "we may run into difficulties far away from our traditional contention of individual freedom."

As the fire burned through the roof, it exploded the lots of barrels held, explosions spewed flames rapidly over the warehouse area.

Firemen fought the blaze for nearly six hours until it had practically burned itself out. Cause of the fire had not been determined.

Control Decision Seen Good Often

LONDON (Reuters)—Canada's decision to retain her foreign exchange controls despite the strength of the Canadian dollar is regarded by the Bank of England as sound.

Canada is not a member of the Sterling area but she may choose to retain the exchange control until the time when she is.

Mr. Gairdner said he did not know the political affiliations of the Poles but he did know they had fought against Hitler. Their background was being checked as a measure of security.

Mr. Gairdner said he believed the Poles might make good Canadian citizens. They were neither Communists nor Fascists. He understood most of them were Roman Catholic.

At the Poles would be single and only those fit for agricultural work would be accepted. They would be skilled workers who would be available for farm work and the government, in co-operation with the provinces, would see they were placed where needed.

These spokesmen said the particular circumstances of the London transit workers' decision had depended upon the union in asking closed shop when it was felt it could give better assurance or uninterrupted service. It did not mean that firms that had closed shop on a similar basis would be sought in other industries.

However, the Times of London raised the question whether this L.P.T.B. decision could not be taken precedent in other public corporations and elsewhere.

As a spokesman told the Times, "I am not sure what I intended to do when I took home a segment of the pavement, sent a dollar to Mayor Wilson and never came back."

I have not felt free since I took a paving block from one of the streets in which I intended to build a stone veneered house, and have been gathering stones from all the states in which I've traveled.

City officials estimated the value of the small block at less than a nickel.

DIES AT COAST

New York, (AP)—A paving block that went for a ride brought the city of New York a clear profit of $9,000, Wednesday.

A 25-year-old tourist, who took home a segment of the pavement, sent a dollar to Mayor Wilson and never came back.

The car was being driven, police said, by Frederick H. Bedford, 53, a director of numerous corporations, including Standard Oil of New Jersey. Mr. Bedford was sent to Bridgeport hospital. He was ex-

On the other side of the ledger are E. M. Willes, Chitty of the Hills, and Royden Hughes and R. K. Laishley, who defended Edward Marsden.

Mr. Chitty said he intends to raise the question of property and civil rights against "encroachment on the public domain" and minority report on the subject if his fellow committee members do not hold his views.

Monty Praised Servicewomen

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP)—A tribute to Canadian servicewomen for their "cheerfulness, vivacity and smartness" was paid Thursday by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Speaking at a civic reception after receiving the keys of the city from Mayor Stanley Lewis, the Field Marshal said he wanted to place on record in the national capital the thanks and admiration for your women soldiers: the CWACs, the WRENS and the WDS, the nursing sisters and the ladies in your voluntary services."

The Field Marshal added, "Braving the perils of war we recently followed their brothers across the Atlantic; they spent so many long years away from their homes; their cheerfulness, vivacity and smartness did much to raise the morale not only of their own countrymen serving overseas but also of the people amongst whom they spent their days."

The names of Canadian women soldiers will not forget the great services they rendered to the common cause."

Women Ferry Pilots Hold First Reunion

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP)—American women who performed army plane all over the world during the war came to Lock Haven recently for their first reunion to spotlight women's place in peace-time aviation.

"We had a great life and we love it," said Clara Jo Marsh, New York president of the Order of Fifelines, composed of 200 female members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Forces known as WASPs, who are now turning their wartime training to peacetime use.

Miss Marsh explained the order took its name from the Fifelines, that female gremi which plagued the WASPs during their wartime training job.

Many of the girls now are continuing in aviation and civilian capacities such as serving as flight instructors, co-pilots on chartered planes and engaging in aerial photo work, Miss Marsh told a recent interview. "They are also serving in ground capacities with the air lines and other aviation organizations." The three-day reunion included speed, landing and bombing contests at the Lock Haven airport. It ended Thursday with a mass flight from Lock Haven to Cleveland, 50 miles away, by the Paper Aircraft Corporation team, the largest peacetime flight of its kind in aviation history.

350 Ration Book Volunteers Mobilized Under Mrs. Hyde

Mrs. E. E. Hyde and her army of 350 women ration book experts are beginning to mobilize from all parts of Edmonton.

MRS. HYDE, who five years ago was able to get the women together in 10 days for the distribution of ration books, through the assistance of the Canadian Legion, has already received dozens of phone calls from women anxious to do the job again this year. The Legion is assisting in getting a start, but former members are volunteering to help. Mrs. Hyde has always been liaison officer between the CVB and the local ration board.

In making preliminary plans for the forthcoming distribution of ration books, Sept. 10, 11 and 12, the board did just as it has done for the last four years. It put in a plan of its own.

G. INGRAM, local ration officer and superintendent of the market told this writer that he could not get the ration books out without Mrs. Hyde.

For next month's job there will be the same number of women to help, but it will be a bigger job due to Edmonton's increased population.

Mrs. Hyde still needs more helpers.

IN THE LAST four years the women, working in the 32 schools, churches, community hall and stores, have given up a total of 1,000 hours of their time and so-necessary little books. This time 140,000 books will be distributed.

"When I started in 1941," explained Mrs. S. Bruce Smith, "I had only 100 women to help. Now we have 350."

DURING the days of actual distribution, Mrs. Hyde and Mr. Ingram are a whirlwind of activity, moving from one depot to the next seeing if all is well on the ration book front. And all usually goes well.

The new sixth book has a yellow cover with multi-colored pages processed with a special ink.

More U.S. Women To Vote In Elections

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Women in the United States, the bureau said, "will be destined to be increasingly influential in elections."

The reason: More women than men are turning 21, and that's been increasing steadily.

On July 1, the bureau said, there were 46,403,210 women of voting age in the United States compared with 45,231,262 men. That is a margin of 1,171,948.

JUST TO SHOW we willing the women are to help, she said that when ration book distribution was announced she had many calls each day from women who volunteered to help.

School janitors helped. They got rooms ready. Ration board officials arrange ahead of time to get the materials required to the depots. Then the appointed wo-

17-Year-Old Wife His Bride

COVINGTON, Ky., Aug. 29 (AP)—An 18-foot plumb from an Ohio river bank has won 17-year-old Billy Allen parental approval of his plans to marry teen-aged Ella Lind.

Youthful Billy was recovering in hospital Wednesday from the shock of his Sunday leap into the Ohio river but he had consolation in the news that he and 16-year-old Ella are to be married Nov. 10, his 18th birthday.

Clarence C. Lindsey, the girl's grandfather with whom she makes her home, said he was relieved when Billy's recovery was assured. "I talked with the boy's mother and we decided if it was serious enough for him to jump off the bridge, well, wed better give our consent."

She chose a white crepe frock with a corsage of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Leslie L. Moore, mother of the bride-elect, also received worn a black frock with a corsage of pink roses and white sweetpeas.

Announce Teaching Staffs, School Boundary Changes

Alexander Enjoys Running Harvester

Alterations in the boundaries of school zones in the city and allocation of teachers for the opening of the fall term, Tuesday, were announced Thursday by R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools.

Mr. Sheppard said the boundary alterations announced would be effective for the opening but some changes in the zone would come later. These changes if any, would be announced by the department before being made.

The allocation of teachers revealed the opening of a class for hard-of-hearing youngsters at Queen's Avenue school under Miss Mary K. Ross. An additional "opportunity class" also will be opened in the North Edmonton school with Mr. W. C. Carson in charge. This will bring to six the number of such special classes.

To Let Squatters Remain in Camps

By Basil Dean

LONDON.—The government has moved swiftly and decisively to solve two major domestic problems which for weeks have formed the main topic of conversation among Britons.

It has accepted the accomplished fact presented to it by thousands of "squatters" in abandoned army camps throughout the country and decided to regularize their tenancy by allowing them to remain and pay fixed rentals and, in working out a timetable for the 380,000 German prisoners still held in Britain. Decision to retain them until a specific time in the future have been growing among Britons.

The manner in which the squatters have forced Whitehall's hand over the matter of army camps is virtually unprecedented in law-abiding Britain. But the main strength of public opinion was on the squatters' side.

Prime Minister Attlee now has ordered his ministers to officially review the whole camp setup throughout Britain immediately, to earmark buildings needed for urgent official purposes such as resettlement centres and training colleges and to decide what camps now occupied by us are temporary homes.

The new government move to establish repatriation timetable for prisoners is also the demand of its critics. The chief complaint was that these men were being held without any indication whatever of when they might expect to return to Germany. Classification of prisoners will be done as soon as possible. Those still retained with Nazism right at the bottom of the list. Whatever else happens, men who are politically dangerous will be kept in Britain until they are "cured."

Sending these men home will improve conditions in Germany, especially on the land, much of this year's harvest is being gathered by Germans and at the moment it cannot be harvested because it would be released from other sources.

The Italian government bought for $1,059,000 all the open wire and cable line signal installations used by the British army in Italy, which were installed at a cost of $2,322,500.

New Zealand has two new cruisers transferred to its navy by the on the Tyrone River.

Your Baby And Mine

BY MARY MEADE, DRED
A mother may intend to wean the baby when September rolls around, and the temperature is more predictable. But nature takes no account of seasons and the baby who has been nursed for long months may be showing signs of the need for weaning.

WHAT ARE SOME of those signals? First is the baby's sudden inability to sleep through the night without feeding, though he may have been able to do so for months. Now, he wakes two or three times and cannot be quieted until nursed.

Strangely enough, mothers think up every reason but the right one for this unusual behavior. They should figure that if the young baby were able to sleep without a feed, the child would be satisfied. And this applies to any baby whose rations need improvement, whether the baby is nursing or not.

SECOND, there is a steady and decided increase in the regular gains in weight. While a baby may not add a specific number of ounces weekly, his weight-changes each month will be quite remarkable. Up to six months of age this change may be from one to two pounds monthly, and after six months it will be about half of that.

IF THE MOTHER gives a bottle feeding alternately with breast-feedings, she will inevitably wean the baby. And at this time this may not be her desire. But if she feeds the baby the breast at each regular period and offers a complementary bottle, the breast continues to function, though its deficiencies are made up.

One must remember that feeding is exactly like bottle feeding except of smaller size. The formula should be properly balanced; the feeding bottles and nipples washed and sterilized as if babies were on all bottle feeding.

BEGUN CAUTIOUSLY, with due regard to the fact that this is a new food and it is warm weather, there should be no danger whatever to the baby's health and much benefit to his nutrition.

Our leaflet No. 22 "Formulas and early Feedings" contains information on all elemental feedings. It may be had by writing, stamping, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer elder in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Why Grow Old?

If it's your back that needs exercise, and it might well be, you will get outstanding results by the above exercise — for which you will need help.

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Backache is one of the most prevalent feminine disabilities. If you suspect you have it, consult your physician to determine whether there is any organic trouble causing it. However, a large percentage of feminine backache come from poor posture, tight clothing, and weak muscles. Proloplaxis, fallen arches and extreme sway-back can all lead to this discomfort.

When we hold ourselves correctly our skeleton carries much of the load which is supported by muscles and ligaments when posture is poor. Bad posture causes muscles to become weak and unfit for their work. And weakened muscles lead to further poor posture. In the vicious circle exists. In order to remedy this condition you must exercise to stretch shortened muscles and to build tone in those that are lax. As you become more aware of your body's small sins, you will see a houseful of children who are a scandal to the neighborhood whose mother doesn't tell them what a good mother she has been.

Not many, if any, for we are all adept at passing the buck and laying our sin at someone else's door. The first man started it when he blamed Eve for having led us out of our happy home and all of us old sons since have used the same old alibi when they got into trouble. A shrewish wife holds her husband responsible for his temerity. And we mothers see a houseful of children who are a scandal to the neighborhood whose mother doesn't tell them what a good mother she has been.

Now OF US are willing to admit our own personal kind of responsibility for our acts. We want to shift the burden to someone else's back. Yet if we had the courage to be honest with ourselves we would realize that we practically forced others into wrongdoing and that we might well say with the little priest in Cable's story: "May God forgive you and me for that man's sins."

Women do not use their back muscles very strenuously. Today I am going to give you two exercises which might profitably be included in every woman's exercise program.

1. Lie on your abdomen, arms stretched out on the floor in front of you and legs straight. Ask someone to hold your feet down to the floor as you raise your head, neck, and trunk, and lift off the floor as you can. Lower arms, trunk and head to the floor and continue.

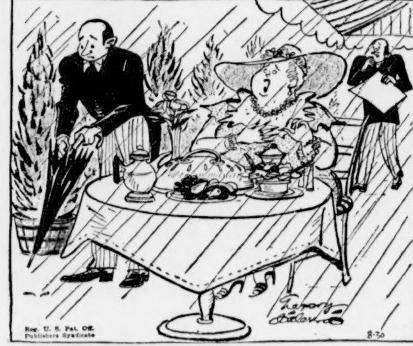

2. Kneel on both knees and place both hands on the floor, one hand under each knee. Bend the elbows and lower the chest toward the floor as you raise the left leg back and up, knee stiff. You should have a straight line from your foot to your head. Return left knee to floor and straighten your elbows. Repeat this time raising the right leg up and back.

If you wish to have my leaflet for the back send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 26 "wick Talk" Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

I believe that Sally," she asked softly. "They—they always seem to pass me by—the real desirable ones. It's sort of discouraging."

Sally gave her a little shrug. "I might just one day pass you by, Dora. And don't tell me you have your eye on anyone already—your man is still here."

"I'm 21," the other stated boldly. "I'm not getting any better looking as I get older either."

Sally sprang to her feet and looked at the girl with a worried expression. "What does it look like?" Some of the very nice people here know are not nice because they are not getting the best from them. And let me tell you something, you don't need a man if the girl he loves is beautiful in other ways; eyes as long as she is love him."

Dora stared at her friend quizzically for a long moment. "And how, may I ask, do you happen to be so attractive?"

"It's sort of a secret," Sally said. "I might just one day pass you by, Dora. And don't tell me you have your eye on anyone already—your man is still here."

Sally laughed and rolled over on her stomach. "To hear you talk one would imagine you were a woman."

"Which I am, darling," Dora said, kicking up her heels. "I'm not a bit different from you, Sally. I quite frankly like the way you speak with authority. From what I've heard about you from the others, you're quite a woman."

Just now, however, there were others who were more interested in men. The girl he loves is beautiful in other ways; eyes as long as she is love him."

Sally's gray eyes glinted. "I guess all you hear about me, Dora? Didn't anyone ever tell you about Blair?" She thought fast. "I'm not a bit different from you, Sally. I quite frankly like the way you speak with authority. From what I've heard about you from the others, you're quite a woman."

Something in her voice made Dora sit up. "You think you're ugly?" she cried. "You think you're not good-looking?"

"Good heavens!" Sally thought. "How could anyone be so ugly?" Even as she said it she knew it sounded theatrical.

"Nonsense, Sally," Maynard said. "She's a maiden aunt. You're young and beautiful and good and you'll fall in love again, I'm sure. You're a beauty, Sally. You're sweet and wholesome and lovely. You're a good girl."

Dora was startled. Her blue eyes were wide with interest. "Blair? Blair who?" she demanded.

"BLAIR CANFIELD," Sally hoped she wouldn't forget.

MODEL WAITERS

LONDON, Aug. 29-(CP)—German prisoners-of-war, replacing servicemen and women as dining-room helps in the army, vary in their cooking styles but all waiters are "fairly silent and do not forget fancy appetites of mess members," officers report.

Soil killers rank highest socially among the Aleut Indians when it is time without sweetness. Many dry wines are far from being sour, though they are also not sweet. Dry wines are "seasoning" to food, and do not reduce one's appetite as sweet wines do.

Many people believe that dry wines are always sour wines but this is quite wrong. "Dry," when

Lawyer Questions Strike Picketing

WINNIPEG, (CP) - Three resolutions having to do with civil liberties were put forward by the Manitoba Bar Association Friday, final day of its three-day 28th annual meeting here, it was reliably learned.

The resolutions, presented by the association's civil liberties committee, call for an amendment to the Canada Evidence act, a recommendation that judges be not automatically summoned to the royal commission on espionage, and include a statement of the association's "renewed" view that no commission should accept guilty of espionage "before charges were laid or a fair trial carried out."

Under the proposed new Canada Evidence act, these sources said, would prevent the use of incriminating evidence if the accused person has been informed of his right to claim privilege before giving evidence.

W. William Chisholm, chairman of the Ontario section of the committee and defense counsel of Israel Thorpe, who was called as a witness named in the royal commission report, said he intends to ask the convention to consider the manner in which picketing is being carried on in current strikes. He added he considered it as much an infringement of civil liberties as the actions of the royal commission.

Important matters to be discussed at the convention will be formation of an international bar association and proposed legislation of international law. President E.K. Williams of Winnipeg said:

Mr. Williams said a formal international law already has been considered by a committee of the American Bar Association in conjunction with a Canadian committee. A report probably will be submitted to the United Nations ad-

Arctic Operations To Be Continued

THE PAS Man, (CP) - Three high ranking military and air force officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force Regia after inspecting a new Royal Canadian Air Force airstrip at Baker Lake and military installations at Churchill.

Brig. Penhale said, "We are using the facilities at Churchill which were established by Americans, ex-G.I. Joseph R. Roth, of New York, who brought through tales of native ways to bring home his German bride, above. Roth received a military government ruling allowing the marriage.

150,000 Veterans Return To Jobs

OTTAWA, (CP) - The majority of their old-service men going back to their old jobs are being re-employed by the government, and there have been only two prosecutions under the Civil Employment Re-instatement Act, it was disclosed by the minister.

The act, which applies to both men and women, requires employers to give preference to veterans discharged from the forces provided they had been employed steadily for three months prior to their enlistment.

Application for reinstatement must be made within three months of discharge, and if the veteran was discharged overseas, extension of six months may be made if exceptional cases of application to the national employment office.

Labor department figures show that about 150,000 veterans have been reinstated in their jobs with 4,277 seeking assistance in finding their old jobs again. In a majority of cases it was found they had no actual claim under the act.

The statistics also showed 45,641 veterans eligible for reinstatement had not made application.

Sees Little Value Nuernberg Trials

WINNIPEG, (CP) - The Nuremberg war crimes are of doubtful long-run value, Sir Reginald Powell-Cotton-Johnson, representative to the British Embassy in the Kingdom to the Canadian Bar association annual meeting, said here.

A former member of the British parliament, and a Judge in England's High Court of Justice, Sir Reginald said there was no point in becoming guardians of civil liberties, "firmly in favor of courts being the watchdogs and not the lawyer."

Asked if increasing governmental power would be wise, he said, "It would be forgotten as soon as the results are out."

England's chief criminal problem was similar to America's he said. "Juvenile delinquency has become social as well as a legal problem, and we don't quite know how to tackle it."

Board To Survey Synthetic Fuels

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA - Every avenue of research and development of synthetic fuel processes is being explored by the government. Hon. J. A. Clark, minister of mines and resources, told the convention Tuesday, during discussion on an item of $50,000 for remodeling of a small-scale synthetic liquid fuel pilot plant at Ottawa.

An official of the department invited Mr. Hardy to investigate German plants, said the minister. It had been decided recently to continue research not only in connection with one process but in respect to all forms of hydro-gasification.

The government now intended to set up a fuel research board representative of the department of mines and resources, the National Research council, and private industry to direct an overall program of fuel research.

Claims Radio Can Send from Moon;
Wants U.S. Army To Shoot up Set

PITTSBURGH, (AP) - The technical possibility of moon-to-earth broadcasts which would give man-made instruments a permanent future about the moon was advanced Tuesday by a scientist who was a Member of Parliament here, and at the second atomic bomb test at Bikini.

Course, broadcasts from the moon first involve getting to the moon, and for that Dr. J.A. Hutchison looks to the United States army which expects to send earth-to-moon rockets within 18 months.

Dr. Hutchison, associate director of the Weather Bureau, told reporters a radio transmitting set weighing less than 100 pounds including batteries could be placed on the moon.
